
END OF LIFE INSTRUCTIONS

Installation materials

No special end-of-life treatment is required for the product. According to countries' practices this product can enter the usual end-of-life treatment process.

Good work practices and caution must be followed when disassembling the product to avoid any cuts or other injuries. Only professional electrician can disconnect the wirings.

Parts made from different materials should be separated and handled individually. Such as screws, locking nails and other metal parts should be separated from plastic parts.

Latest information related to harmful materials according to legislation can be checked from REACH documentation found from ABB web sites.

ABB Oy
Wiring Accessories
PL 16
06100 Porvoo, Finland